Hi Pat,

I have called all the DCIS patients and only spoke to one!!!

- The lady I spoke with is fine.....the conversation had some difficulty over the difference between hormone receptors and hormone therapy and the difference between retesting for ER/PR and a mammogram but at the end of it she knows she was originally identified to be retested and wasn't and this issue doesn't concern her.
- There are two that I have no contact information on, one in Western which I have a request in to Donna for and one in Central.
- I made calls today to 6 others diagnosed with DCIS and there was no answer for any of them.
- We have one lady's specimen being reviewed at Western

I'm waiting for Sherry to call me back and confirm that she called the rest.....and that will be it for all those tables
