Hello doctors:

I've spoken to Pam Elliott about this case. She feels we should touch base tomorrow when Heather is back in the office – she's away in BC today and Pam does not have access to the database today. We should get back to this gentleman by tomorrow so that he doesn't have the weekend to stew on a lack of response. Pam will make contact with Dr. Bob tomorrow to discuss.

Discuss with HP

To whom it may concern,

I have been previously told that my late wife's ER/PR receptor were being retested as her diagnosis of breast cancer fell into the time period where inconsistencies were detected. I have been requested these results on several occasions and have had no success. Originally I was told I would be contacted when the results were back but I have heard nothing.

Could you please advise who I can contact to get an answer. I dont' want to be put onto a patient relations officer who is going to give me the run around.

I have been more than patient on this issue but I now require an truthful answer to get on with my life.

My wife's name was [REDACTED]
 D.O.B. [REDACTED]
 Died [REDACTED]
 Diagnosed [REDACTED]

If I haven't received a reply to this email by September 28, 2006 I will be contacting the media with my problem.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
