Robert, The reality for us this week is we are without some key people who need to be looking at this information. The meeting yesterday was rather disjointed to say the least. The report is being reviewed by people within the organization and we will get feedback to you within a day or so. Our understanding is that this report will not be released tomorrow. We are now working on our key messages for the release as people are trying to wrap their heads around the information. There are numerous stakeholders here that I have to ensure I make contact with to get their input....they are very busy clinical people and I have to walk a fine line and not be seen to be pressuring them! We are doing the press release on the Peer Review documents today at 12, so will not be able to meet at that time. I suggest we meet at 2:30 this afternoon with our communication folks.....our place would be nice...at corporate office??? Please advise.Pat

Pat:

Received some feedback from Debbie on yesterday's meeting. Important that we receive further feedback from you today. Can we meet late morning? Will you have additional feedback then?

We also need to coordinate on the "deceased" messages and figure out how tomorrow will unfold. Therefore, perhaps we should include our com people so everyone is on same page. Does 12 noon sound good??

In the meantime, I am sending you the slide deck which would form the basis of the media technical briefing tomorrow. We also have a draft press release and backgrounder which I will send you in an hour or so. And we have a backgrounder on lessons learned/budget initiatives which will be announced alongside, to be sent to you in an hour or so.

Lots of detail here.

Please advise.

Robert
