Hello,

I'm e-mailing from St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada. I tried to call but the number listed on your website but I got a recording stating that it was out of service. We are a large regional health board, which recently had the opportunity of retesting a slide processed initially with a manual boiling process with our new automated system. We got different results and we are now in the process of trying to determine an appropriate level of positivity for both methods and the expected level of conversion of ER negative results with this new sensitive system.

Could you e-mail me with your contact information?

Thanks
